RE: Representation on University Faculty Council

January 5, 2018

The University Writing Program's full-time faculty with continuous contracts request representation on University Faculty Council.

The University Writing Program is as unique as its history: for the last five years it has been a free-standing unit with twenty-eight full-time lecturers and, now, three tenure-line faculty. While the UWP's tenure-line faculty's departmental home is English, the University Writing Program is the sole unit-home for this large core of lecturers. Having built the unit's governance processes from the ground-up over the years, faculty now request a voice and vote on University Faculty Council.
